

V7 Labs Trusts Data Is Protected as It Accelerates Innovation Using Generative AI and AWS

Contact Us

“The thing I really like about the AWS generative AI service is the way data is protected [...] Even if it’s AWS’ own generative models or other third-party tools, they are locked inside that environment, and I can trust that the data doesn’t go anywhere else.”

Simon Edwardsson
Chief Technology Officer and Co-Founder

V7 Labs' artificial intelligence (AI) platform is used by AI companies to bring innovation to industries ranging from manufacturing to medical services. It's been running on Amazon Web Services (AWS) since launch. Simon Edwardsson, chief technology officer and co-founder, says data protection is a key driver for the startup as it explores generative AI to deliver new solutions to its global client base.
